And Around the Block the Other Way! Lakota, Wamduska Square and Stump Lake Village

Session#: GF-0006 | $75

Wednesday, July 15 | 8:30 am - 5:00 pm
Depart: 8:30 am from the southeast parking lot of the Ramada Inn. Please arrive 15 minutes early.
Return: Around 5:00 pm.

Last month, we headed south and east to Hillsboro, Fertile and Crookston. Let's turn around and visit Lakota (watch for quilt squares on farm buildings!), where long ago immigrants began arriving even before the railroad came to town. Once the railroad was built in 1883, Larimore Pioneer announced that Mr. Hubby, Lakota, expected 60 immigrant families in the spring. In April, 1900, the news noted that Lakota seemed to be receiving its share of immigrants with three to four cars unloading daily. Once in Lakota, our first stop is the Tofthagen Library and Museum - is a repository of memorabilia such as a peace pipe Mr. Tofthagen smoked with Sitting Bull in 1889; an invitation of the first graduating class of Lakota High School in 1904; comprehensive Lakota Centennial Scrapbooks from 1983 and many more historical artifacts relating to the history of the community. For lunch we will be stopping at Elaine’s House of Dreams…yummo! Leaving Lakota we will go down the road to Wamduska Square where we’ll find and tour four restored 1-room country schoolhouses, refurbished to appear as late 1800s. Wamduska was a failed attempt at founding a town site. Forty blocks were platted and about fifty buildings were constructed, including the Wamduska House, a 42-room hotel. The post office was established July 11, 1882 with Emery Mapes Jr. as postmaster. The Great Northern Railroad bypassed the site to the north by ten miles, and the town was doomed. The town site was officially abandoned in 1916, and the hotel was demolished in 1954. From Wamduska Square we will journey on to Stump Lake Village and tour the Barr House, Saunders Barn, Michigan Depot and Niagara Caboose and the School House. Fee includes deluxe motor coach, lunch and snacks.

On February 14, 1939, the 823-foot Bismarck was launched at Hamburg. Nazi leader Adolf Hitler hoped that the state-of-the-art battleship would herald the rebirth of the German surface battle fleet. However, after the outbreak of war, Britain closely guarded ocean routes from Germany to the Atlantic Ocean, and only U-boats moved freely through the war zone. In May 1941, the order was given for the Bismarck to break out into the Atlantic. Once in the safety of the open ocean, the battleship would be almost impossible to track down…almost.

The Smithsonian American Art Museum has a long history of offering interactive, videoconference-based learning. Since 2000, the Museum has used this technology to connect its corps of volunteer videoconference presenters to learners of all ages. Artists give us a unique window on American life, reflecting the cultural, social, and political climate of the time in which they work. In five sessions OLLI members will examine America through the eyes of artists in different eras: To See is to Think; Young America; Lure of the West; Civil War; and The 1930s and the War Era.

During the early 1900s, North Dakota’s economy was based on agriculture. Serious in-state problems prevented cohesive efforts in buying and selling crops and financing farm operations. Grain dealers outside the state suppressed grain prices; farm suppliers increased their prices; and interest rates on farm loans climbed. By 1919, popular consensus wanted state ownership and control of marketing and credit agencies. Thus, the state legislature established the Bank of North Dakota. That was 96 years ago and the history of what has happened during those 96 years will be revisited during this presentation.
