Parent Emergency Notifications

The safety and well-being of our students is one of our highest priorities at The University of North Dakota. In the event of an emergency, our first priority will be communicating with the campus community to ensure that our students and employees have the information they need to be as safe as possible.

The University’s emergency notification systems for students and employees are:
- NotiFind (telephone and text)
- Blackboard Connect
- Campus Outdoor Warning Sirens
- UND’s website
- Emergency Social Media (Facebook, Twitter)
- “In Case of Crisis” mobile app
- Email
- Cable channel 3, residence hall channel 7
- Local media

Parents can also find up-to-date emergency information at:
- UND’s website
- Emergency social media
- “In Case of Crisis” mobile app
- Local media
- Cable channel 3 in Grand Forks area

Emergency Notifications

An Emergency Warning is issued if there is a significant emergency or immediate threat to the health or safety of people on campus – such as a dangerous person on campus, major chemical spill, or campus closing.

A Timely Warning via email, web or campus posting is issued if there is a continuing danger affecting the campus community and notification will not compromise law enforcement efforts.

An Emergency Weather Warning is issued when a tornado warning is issued by the National Weather Service.

In an emergency the University of North Dakota will issue emergency notifications along with updates, information and other resources.
