Note: There are many small interior walls that can be used for shelter in a severe weather emergency. The areas selected are good examples that can be followed for other locations in the structure.