MEMO

To: Interested Parties
From: Dana Moes
Re: Women's Opportunity Scholarship Fund
Date: March, 2015

Enclosed please find one application kit for the 2015-2016 Women's Opportunity Scholarship Fund. We are beginning the application process once again, and we encourage you to share the application with any woman who is eligible. We hope you will be able to make copies of this application packet and distribute those copies to potential scholarship applicants, so that we can avoid paying large postage costs.

Please note that we cannot accept incomplete applications; eligibility depends greatly on the essay and the financial page. Please make sure that you identify a realistic need on the bottom of page 3. In addition, it's important that applicants find three individuals who would be willing to complete the recommendation forms and then send them to our office. Please note, as well, that we cannot accept late applications; the completed application must be returned to us by June 16, 2015.

We are pleased to have the chance once again to help women achieve their dreams and pursue a college education. We welcome you and the applicants to call us if you have any questions at (701) 255-6240 ext 104 or 1-888-255-6240 ext 104.

Thank you.
You're invited to attend

Dr. Mark Trahant

UND's new Charles R. Johnson Endowed Professor of Journalism.

Trahant has won numerous journalism awards and was a finalist for the 1989 Pulitzer Prize for National Reporting as co-author of a series on federal-Indian policy. Mark Trahant, a well-known independent print and broadcast journalist and member of Idaho's Shoshone-Bannock Tribe, joins the University of North Dakota Communication Program faculty next fall as Charles R. Johnson Endowed Professor of Journalism.

He was the editorial page for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, where he chaired the daily editorial board, directed a staff of writers, editors and a cartoonist. He has been chairman and chief executive officer at the Robert C. Maynard Institute for Journalism Education. The Oakland, California–based nonprofit is the country's premier institute for providing advanced training and services nationally to help news media reflect diversity in content, staffing and business operations. He is a former columnist at The Seattle Times and has been publisher of the Moscow-Pullman Daily News in Moscow, Idaho; executive news editor of The Salt Lake Tribune; a reporter at the Arizona Republic in Phoenix; and has worked at several tribal newspapers.

Trahant is the 2014 Atwood Chair of Journalism at the University of Alaska Anchorage. He was formerly president of the Native American Journalists Association and wrote The Last Great Battle of the Indian Wars in 2010, a book about Sen. Henry M. Jackson.

GRAD GRILL

Tuesday, May 5, from 5-7 p.m.
Gorecki Alumni Center

Celebrate your graduation with fellow 2015 grads! We'll do the grilling, just come and enjoy. All attendees will receive a UND alumni T-shirt.
University Spring Commencement Ceremonies
The University will hold General Commencement at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, May 16, at the Alerus Center, where President Robert O. Kelley will preside over his seventh spring ceremony.
The School of Law and the School of Medicine and Health Sciences (SMHS) will hold separate ceremonies on Saturday, May 9 (see details below). In the past year, UND graduated approximately 3,500 students in ceremonies in May, August, and December.
For General Commencement, there are 1,451 eligible undergraduate-degree candidates and 485 graduate-degree candidates, totaling 1,936. In addition, there are 59 law students and 55 medical students eligible to graduate this spring.
UND faculty and administrative staff are encouraged to march in the General Commencement Ceremony, and are asked to wear academic regalia.
Honorary degrees
UND also will honor two distinguished alumni with honorary degrees during the general commencement ceremony: North Dakota Supreme Court Chief Justice Gerald VandeWalle and Farm Rescue President and founder Bill Gross.
Chester Fritz Distinguished Professors
Two faculty members—Cindy Juntenen, in the College of Education and Human Development, and Sharon Carson, Department of English—have been awarded Chester Fritz Distinguished Professorships, the University's highest academic honor. Both will be accepting their award at this year's spring General Commencement.
Live streaming and broadcasts
The ceremony will be broadcast live on Grand Forks Cable Channel 3 and rebroadcast on the same channel May 19-22 (Tuesday – Friday) at noon and 8 p.m.
UND also provides a live video stream of commencement to allow family and friends to participate in commencement, even if they cannot attend in person. This feed is provided in Adobe Flash Video format, so users may need to download the Free Flash Player at http://get.adobe.com/flashplayer/

To enter the event, go to http://www.und.edu/dept/webcast

If users have trouble seeing the video, they should contact UND tech support at http://techsupport.UND.edu and chat with a representative, or call 701.777.6305.

DVDs of the ceremony are available at the UND Bookstore. To purchase a copy, contact the bookstore at 701.777.4980.

School of Law
The UND School of Law will hold its commencement ceremony 10 a.m., Saturday, May 9, in the Chester Fritz Auditorium on the University of North Dakota main campus. The ceremony will be officiated by UND School of Law Dean Kathryn R.L. Rand and UND President Robert Kelley. North Dakota Supreme Court Justice Surrogate Judge Mary Muehlen Maring, will present this year's Law School commencement address.

School of Medicine and Health Sciences
SMHS Doctor of Medicine commencement is at 2:30 p.m., Saturday, May 9, in the Chester Fritz Auditorium. Dr. Timothy Henry, (BS Med ’80) an interventional cardiologist and director of Cardiology at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles and a professor of medicine at UCLA, will deliver the keynote address, titled “Heart to Heart.” Henry grew up in Westhope, N.D., and spent three years at Minot State College before graduating from UND in 1978.
UND Counseling Center

The UND Counseling Center is offering services, which are covered by student fees and are confidential. The locations of UND Counseling services are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Hours</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>McCannel Hall, 2nd Floor</td>
<td>Mon—Fri 8:00 AM—4:30 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>Wed. 2:00 PM—8:00 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Child care available at ACC</td>
<td>Thurs. 2:00 PM—9:00 PM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johnstone Hall, Room 12</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Generally eligibility for services requires an individual to be enrolled, but one exception to eligibility for services is at the ACC location. Adult non-student family/partners of an enrolled student who is living within the UND apartment community are able to seek counseling services at the ACC location per an agreement with Housing.

Each of these locations UCC, ACC, and Johnstone, offers ongoing counseling and walk-in availability for students to either schedule or drop-in and visit with a counselor.

We have a wide variety of staff, so students are able to meet with different individuals to find a good fit. We offer a wide range of services from individual, couples, group, and vocational counseling to low intensity outpatient treatment for drug and alcohol issues.

Presenting concerns often seen include but are not limited to anxiety, depression, relationship issues, academic concerns, drug and alcohol issues, trauma, body image, self-harm, etc.

Also if you’re having events throughout the semester, UCC staff would like to have a presence! Please keep in touch about ongoing events or need for specific programing.

AIGC Now Accepting Cobell Scholarship Applications

Cobell Scholarship Application deadline is June 1, 2015 for the Fall 2015 term.

Albuquerque, NM - April 20, 2015 - The American Indian Graduate Center (AIGC) announced today that it is now accepting Cobell Scholarship applications through June 1, 2015, for the Fall 2015 term. Interested applicants can access the application and scholarship criteria at www.aigcs.org.

"We at AIGC are eager to fund applicants for the Cobell Scholars Program beginning with the Fall 2015 term. The provision of a scholarship program in conjunction with the Cobell Settlement was an inspired idea, and we are pleased to have been selected to administer the program," said Sam Deloria, Director of the American Indian Graduate Center.

Established as a result of the Cobell v. Salazar litigation, the Cobell Scholars Program fund is intended to provide financial assistance in the form of scholarships to American Indian and Alaska Native students to defray the cost of attendance at both post-secondary vocational schools and institutions of higher education. The Cobell Board of Trustees, a Nonprofit created to manage the fund and oversee implementation of the scholarship program, is responsible for establishing the Cobell Scholars’ qualifications and award amounts.

The Department of Interior announced in early April a $12 million transfer to the Cobell Education Scholarship Fund. The Department makes quarterly transfers to the Scholarship Fund, which is expected to total $60 million.

Cobell Scholars will be awarded to U.S. Federally-recognized American Indian and Alaska Native students who are vocational certificate-seeking or a degree-seeking students in full-time accredited non-profit institutions in the United States; and who are able to demonstrate financial need.

Preference will be given to original Cobell Settlement Class members or Direct descendants. All applicants are required to submit a Tribal Eligibility Certificate and Financial Needs Form available at http://www.aigcs.org/scholarships/online-application-instructions/.

About the American Indian Graduate Center (AIGC)
AIGC is a national organization, based in Albuquerque, NM, providing educational support through scholarships since 1969. AIGC is a national provider of scholarships for American Indian and Alaska Native graduate and undergraduate students and has awarded more than $52 million in scholarships since its inception over 45 years ago.

To build, promote and honor self-sustaining American Indian and Alaska Native communities through education and leadership.

NDIS Summer Scholarship Applications

The North Dakota Indian Scholarship Board has approved limited funding for sum-mer 2015!

We will be accepting applications through June 5, 2015 for both undergraduate and graduate students.

If a student has already received funding for 2014/15, a new application is not re-quired, however, we will need an updated needs analysis form for summer. If a stu-dent has not received funding for 2014/15, they should complete the entire 2014-15 NEW Application. Please remember that students must be accepted to your college for enrollment, they must be a North Dakota residents, they must be enrolled fulltime (unless summer is their final term of study) and they must have completed the FAF-SA to determine need.

The 2014/2015 application and needs analysis form can be found at http://www.ndus.edu/students/paying-for-college/grants-scholarships/#NDIS.

The North Dakota Indian Scholarship Board has not approved the 2015/16 application and needs analysis yet. Please watch for that notice in the next few weeks. Thank you.

Scholarship Searches

Internet scholarship search engines provide extensive FREE scholarship information. Some of the larger search engines include: CollegeBoard, FastWEB, Mach25, NextStudent, and ScholarshipExperts scholarship searches. Another free resource is Weekly Scholarship Alert. This service e-mails you 5-10 scholarship notices each week; no personal information is gathered beyond name and e-mail address.

AISS also has scholarship booklets and packets on hand for distribution.

Native American Scholarship Fund

The Native American Scholarship Fund is an endowment established to foster a sense of shared purpose and positive interaction between archaeologists and Native Americans. Scholarships are open to all Native peoples from anywhere in the Americas, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, and Indigenous Pacific Islanders.

Since 1998, the SAA (Society for American Archeology) has used the endowment income to award the annual Arthur C. Parker Scholarship in support of archaeological training for Native Americans who are students or employees of tribal, Alaska Native, or Native Hawaiian cultural preservation programs. National Science Foundation (NSF) Scholarships for Archaeological Training for Native Americans and Native Hawaiians are also awarded through the Native American Scholarships Committee. In 2009, the SAA added two new awards in support of undergraduate and graduate archaeology education.

Support for these scholarships comes in several ways: through individual donations, an annual silent auction at the SAA meetings, book royalties, and grants. For questions about the applications process or to make a donation, please contact the Committee Chair.

- SAA Arthur C. Parker Scholarship or NSF Scholarship for Archaeological Training: to support archaeological training or a research program for Native American students or employees of tribal cultural preservation programs (up to $4,000).
- SAA Native Undergraduate Archaeology Scholarship: to support undergraduate studies for Native American students including but not limited to tuition, travel, food, housing, books, supplies, equipment, and child care (up to $5,000).
- SAA Native American Graduate Archaeology Scholarship: to support graduate studies for Native American students, including but not limited to tuition, travel, food, housing, books, supplies, equipment, and child care (up to $10,000).
