Greetings Students and Friends:

With another new year well upon us, I hope your semester is off to a great start! We have a few new students who have enrolled at UND for the Spring 2012 Semester, so if you notice a new face perhaps in the Computer Lab or elsewhere on campus, please help us in ensuring that they feel welcome. I realize it can be somewhat uncomfortable introducing yourself and initiating a conversation with someone you don’t know, but I encourage each of you to practice building your leadership skills and serve as student ambassadors for our American Indian community on campus. Remember how alone you felt when you first arrived on campus? Exactly! With that said, I urge each of you to extend a hand of friendship to our new students.

I’d also like to remind and encourage students to utilize the talented and helpful array of AISS tutors. They staff the Center in the evenings and are on duty to serve you Sunday through Thursday evenings with no charge and no appointments necessary! Keep in mind that you don’t have to be failing a class to utilize the AISS or other tutoring services on campus. Many student report that making homework and papers a priority continues to be major challenge that often results in last minute panic and resulting work that doesn’t accurately reflect their abilities. Why settle for a C or a B when you can get an A? Our tutors can help you excel in your course work and they are always ready to help. Be sure to post the updated tutoring schedule featured in this newsletter on your fridge/desk or elsewhere to continually remind you that help is always available!

Congratulations go out to our students who made the Dean’s List, the President’s Honor Roll for the Fall 2011 Semester. It takes a great deal of discipline, good study habits, and self motivation to achieve and excel, and if you are such a student who earned a place on the Dean’s or President’s list, let us know if you’d like assistance in getting recognized in your hometown newspaper. We can help with that and you definitely deserve recognition. Let the folks back home know how hard you are working and how successful you have been at UND! And keep in mind that, you make us very proud and your commitment to excellence will carry you far into your professional career!

With the start of the Spring Semester comes the countdown for the Annual Time Out Week & Wacipi. This year will mark the 42nd year of Time Out events, with the Indian Studies Association (ISA) Time Out week scheduled for April 16th through 20th followed by the University of North Dakota Indian Association (UNDIA) Wacipi being held April 20th, 21st and 22nd. Students and colleagues, please consider volunteering for one or more of the many activities. These events are run entirely by the students and there is a lot of work to do! The ISA/UNDIA Annual Time Out Week & Wacipi are huge events to plan, organize, and host, so any contributions of time and assistance will be greatly appreciated, and further, keep in mind that volunteerism and commitment to community look very attractive on resumes, along with scholarship or program admission applications!

Just a reminder to dress warm and appropriately as winter continues for a couple more months. Students – winter hats, boots, and gloves are always in style during ND winters! And when traveling home during the breaks, be sure to pack along a winter survival kit or minimally, toss a warm blanket and a few snacks in the trunk for emergencies. I realize that with cell phones being so widespread, the dangers of being stranded for a long period of time have been greatly reduced; however, in times of blizzards or extremely poor road conditions, it may take help awhile to arrive – so be ready and safe travels!

In closing, I’d like to remind students and campus community members that at the American Indian Center, the coffee or hot chocolate is always waiting, along with the plethora of services provided by our friendly staff. We are here to help you be successful at every level, so do not hesitate to come visit! Many students consider the Center their home away from home, a great place to study or receive assistance, and naturally, an excellent place to find friends, peer, and cultural support. And on Fridays throughout the winter months, do join us at the Center for our Soup Friday event. There’s nothing like a bowl of hot, homemade soup to take the chill off, remind you of home, and provide excellent nutrition – which is definitely food for thought!

With that, keep warm, stay focused on your goals, strive to be involved in your community, and pass along kindness and encouragement to others whenever possible. We are very pleased to have you at UND, and genuinely excited to witness your all around success! Keep in touch, friends!

REFUNDU is an undergraduate research program for UND students funded by North Dakota Idea Network of Biomedical Research Excellence (INBRE). The goal of the program is to enhance the North Dakota INBRE initiative to attract talented basic and behavioral science undergraduates to professional careers in the health sciences. The program provides a 10-week summer research experience under the direction of selected faculty members in the UND School of Medicine & Health Sciences. Opportunities exist for research in the basic, behavioral, and translational sciences. Seminar programs will cover a range of basic science to community-based research program topic.

The REFUNDU program has up to twelve openings for the summer of 2012 for rising sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Participants will receive $4,000 based on a 10-week, 40 hours per week research training experience.

Interested participants must complete an application, including an autobiographical sketch, and submit their unofficial college transcript and two letters of recommendation. Application review will begin Friday, March 23, 2012, and continue until all positions have been filled.

The program begins Monday, June 4, and ends Friday, August 10, 2012. Participants must be undergraduate students of UND. Students graduating in Spring/Summer 2012 are not eligible.

To apply online or download an application form, go to: http://ndinbre.org/opportunities/refundu/

Hultberg Lectureship set for Feb. 7

The 2012 Hultberg Lectureship Series, which features prominent women alumni of the College of Business, will be held Tuesday, Feb. 7. The event includes classroom visits during the day, and a panel discussion “Making Dreams Happen in Your Career in a Challenging Economy,” in the Memorial Union at 7 p.m., with a reception to follow.

Guest speakers include:

- Monica Musich, 1982 UND graduate majoring in Marketing and Management. Owner and president of Valdak Corp. Currently resides in Grand Forks.
- Deb Anderson, 1984 UND graduate with a bachelor’s degree in Accounting and law degree in 1987. CPA and partner of Anderson & Roers public accounting firm. Currently resides in Minneapolis.
- Michelle Belbas, 2008 UND graduate with a bachelor’s in Accountancy. CPA at Cargill and currently resides in Omaha.

Penny Polayes, 1984 UND graduate, BBA with an emphasis in Marketing and BA with an emphasis in Public Address. Vice President of Leadership Development and Regulatory Affairs for Sheathing Technologies, Inc. Currently resides in San Francisco. All of the speakers play a vital role in the business world and are involved in philanthropy. Associate Professor of Accountancy Mary Loyland has been involved with the Hultberg series since the conception of the event 25 years ago, “This $10,000 gift has been well used for the past 25 years. The Lectureship brings back successful UND women graduates who share with our students their life experiences and professional successes. These women are like our students - they came from the upper Midwest and have our well-known work ethic. I hope that students look at them and think ‘Wow, look what they have done with their UND degree. I can do the same thing!’”

The Hultberg Lectureship Series was established 25 years ago with a gift through the UND Foundation by Clara E. Hultberg in memory of her parents Hans and Suzanne Hultberg. Clara Hultberg was a 1928 UND graduate whose interests were in stimulating challenges and opportunities for students in business.

The Hultberg Lecture Series has hosted more than 80 successful UND female alumni. This event highlights the University's commitment to diversity and the promotion of women in the workplace.

The One Native Nation Foundation is charging head-on in support of one of this country's greatest assets, the Native American community. Through the centuries, the Native People's have given up much, beit land, time or even identity. With a philanthropic heart, the One Native Nation Foundation will support the needs of the Native American community by providing some financial relief to those seeking higher education. Our hope is this movement will be "catchy" as now is as good a time as any for a cultural revival.
