HOW TO USE YOUR MEAL PLAN AT OLD MAIN MARKETPLACE

What is a meal plan trade out?
A meal plan trade out is a service to residents in Swanson Hall and Conference Center that allows them to use their dining center meal plan in the retail dining outlet, Old Main Marketplace Food Court in the Memorial Union.

Who can use this service?
Students living in Swanson Hall and Conference Center who are on the Unlimited Access Plus or Unlimited Access meal plan. Block meal plan holders are not eligible.

When can residents use this service?
1. A dinner meal swipe can be used at Old Main Marketplace after 7:00 pm, Monday-Friday.
2. Both a brunch and a dinner meal swipe can be used at Old Main Marketplace on Saturdays and Sundays.

What can students order?
Students have a $7.50 maximum dollar amount they can use for each swipe. Plan holders are limited to two packaged food items (non-UND produced) and one bottled or canned beverage.

Can students still use their meal plan at Wilkerson Dining Center even though they have already eaten at Old Main Marketplace the same day?
Yes, students can still use meal swipes on their Unlimited Access meal plan at Wilkerson Dining Center even if they utilized the board trade out at Old Main Marketplace the same day.

The use of meal plans at Old Main Marketplace on the weekends and evenings is considered a privilege. Meal plans are non-transferable. If it becomes apparent that the plan holder is abusing the privilege of using their meal plan at Old Main Marketplace on the weekends and during evening hours, the plan holder will lose that privilege.
