Management (B.B.A.)

Be prepared for anything and everything with a Management degree from UND.

The career you start right out of college likely won't be your last — the average American worker will hold down 12 to 15 different jobs over a lifetime, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. UND’s Management program is broad enough to give you the problem-solving and decision-making skills to handle whatever your career brings.

Program Snapshot

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Program type:</th>
<th>Major</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Format:</td>
<td>On-campus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Est. time to complete:</td>
<td>4 years</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Credit hours:</td>
<td>120</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Why Study Management at UND?

Modern organizations, both for-profit and not-for-profit, are more complex than ever before: Managers must be adept at topics as disparate as ethics, leadership, strategy, human resources, finance, supply chain management and globalization. At UND, you'll learn the principles of management at the same time you study all the different aspects of business. As a student in UND's Management program, you'll learn how to:

- Organize and lead teams
- Generate goals and strategies
- Motivate and develop employees
- Evaluate performance
- Make strategic decisions
- Manage technology and work processes
- Understand the unique contributions of effectively managed supply chains
Analyze data for effective decision making

By the time you graduate, you'll have the ability to analyze and solve management problems regardless of the field you enter.

Accreditation

AACSB International

Priority Application Deadlines

FALL: Feb. 1* (freshmen) | April 15* (transfer students)
SPRING: Dec. 1
SUMMER: April 1
*academic scholarship priority deadline

Outcomes

67K Employers in the management consulting industry expect to pay new graduate hires salaries that average $67,569. *

807K Employment of management occupations is projected to grow 8 percent from 2016 to 2026, about as fast as the average for all occupations, which will result in about 807,300 new jobs.

*NACE
U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

UND's broad management curriculum prepares you for opportunities in fields such as:

• Aerospace
• Agriculture
• Automotive
• Chemicals
• Construction
• Consumer goods
• Electronics
• Energy
• Food processing
• Leisure and hospitality
• Lumber
• Mining & petroleum
• Professional services
• Steel
• Telecommunications
• Transportation