UND COVID-19 First Day Back to Class Student Checklist

Prior to first class meeting
- Read through all course material (including syllabi) in Blackboard.
- Your instructors have posted if and how your course will be split into groups. Make sure you know what group you are in for each class and what the schedule for attendance is for your group. Your group may not attend class on the first day! Due to social distancing you should not attend class meetings outside of your assigned days/times.
- Read all announcements in Blackboard. Each course may have different expectations for meetings and participation outside of class meetings.

On day of first face-to-face class meeting
- Check in with yourself.
  - Do you have any physical symptoms (e.g., fever, coughing, sneezing, loss of taste or smell, difficulty breathing) that would prevent you from attending class?
  - If so, please email your instructors ASAP that you are unable to attend class.
- Check in with your supplies.
  - Wear your face covering on campus when you are in a space with other people.
- Check in with your surroundings.
  - Do not go to your classroom early. Allow the previous class to disperse before entering. Use wipes to clean your desk space and dispose of the wipe upon exiting. Use hand sanitizer if you wish.
- Check in with your instructor.
  - Do they have assigned seating? Where is yours?
- Check out.
  - As class ends, please wait for the instructor to dismiss the class by row, beginning with closest to the door. Do not stay in the hallway. Move to your next class or location for the day maintaining a six-foot distance between you and others as much as possible.
  - If you have questions for the instructor, see how to best contact them following class (email, zoom, phone call, etc.). This information will be posted in the syllabus or on Blackboard.
