

Dear [Student First Name],

Welcome! I hope you have had a great start to this semester at the University of North Dakota!

As your instructor, I want to share some information about Starfish, one of many great resources at UND. Starfish features your success network which includes your instructors and academic advisor. You also have the ability to schedule appointments with a variety of offices and individuals across campus by scrolling through the Service catalog. In addition, you can use the Request Help button to ask questions about a variety of topics and resources such as financial aid, career exploration, academic support, and general advising questions, to name a few. You can sign into Starfish with your UND username and password by clicking here.

I am also providing a link to some Important Dates and Deadlines which you will find helpful as you progress through the semester.

Sincerely,
