Learn from extensive real-world opportunities.
Collaborate with engineering, aerospace, and medical students, as well as other disciplines.
Conduct research, develop software and manage systems for many schools and departments.
Flexible course offerings and specializations allow for a tailored educational experience.
Gain access to on-campus computing power: two computer labs, a set of diverse servers and a high-performance computing (HPC) system.
The B.S. in Computer Science is accredited by the Computing Accreditation Commission of ABET.